The image shows a screenshot of the PDFCreator 0.9.1 application window. The window has a title bar with the text "PDFCreator 0.9.1" and a close button. The main area contains several input fields and buttons. The "Document Title:" field is empty, with a placeholder text "Type a Document Title Here". The "Creation Date:" field contains the text "20060613160135", and the "Modify Date:" field also contains "20060613160135". Both date fields have a "Now" button next to them. The "Author:" field is empty. The "Subject:" field is empty. The "Keywords:" field is empty. At the bottom, there is a checkbox labeled "After saving, open the document with the default program." which is checked. Below the checkbox are five buttons: "Cancel", "Waiting", "Options", "eMail", and "Save".
